

RAGCore - Intelligent Enterprise Knowledge Retrieval and Generation System

RAGCore is an intelligent enterprise knowledge retrieval and generation system. It allows users to search for information within a large corpus of documents.

Technologies used by RAGCore include:

- Document processing
- Text extraction
- Embeddings
- Vector search
- Retrieval
- Large language models

The goal of RAGCore is to provide accurate answers based on the information available in uploaded documents.